

ANTH 423 – POLITICAL ANTHROPOLOGY – KEY COURSE CONCEPTS

coercive power	hegemony—	long-distance persuasive power	geopolitics	nationalism authority	doxa—orthodoxy,	flexible citizenship legitimacy	heterodoxy	social drama public-private	agency	methodological acephalous	structure	individualism egalitarian	structural	action theory headman	functionalism	process theory kin society	dependency	game theory civil society	Eurocentrism	moral teams big man	Modernization	contract teams bands	State-centrism	factions tribes	Commodification	strategy chiefdoms	Axial division of	economic man status	labour	political man states	Liberalism	mystification peasants	geoculture	ethnicity polybians	core-periphery	fictive kinship proletarianization	cyclical rhythms	affectivity colonies of conquest	secular trends	intentionality colonies of	long waves	instrumentality exploitation	bifurcation	situational interest colonies of settlement	world revolutions	groups slavery	anti-systemism	transactionalism total institutions	capitalist world-system	primordality domination	globalization	habitus resistance	neo-liberalism	“classes on paper” inversion	universalism	taxonomies strategic obliteration	particularism	representation reproduction in	transnationalism	practice opposition	compression (time-	new social movements subaltern	space)	cultural politics hidden transcripts	interdependence hegemony—culture	nationalism	